Easily calculate all kinds of different financial, mathematical and scientific formulae in a single, easy-to-use software application. Of course there's a calculator too, but I'd recommend this one instead. PCalc is a very simple yet very useful application that can be used to quickly calculate a wide range of different formulae. The software does not allow you to perform any advanced operations such as date calculation, but it can be used to calculate everything from easy mathematical formulas to longer and more complex formulae with ease. One of the most important features of the tool is the fact that it is completely multiplatform, which allows it to function without any problems on all versions of Windows. The program doesn't allow you to save the results of the calculations, but it has a clipboard and lets you export the results to CSV format. Other features include linking the application to a database that stores the formulae, which can make the application a bit complicated to use, but it's a very useful feature when used to avoid cumbersome calculations on a regular basis. PCalc doesn't have a help option; this is a negative aspect of the software because it won't help you in any way.

Limitations

- No advanced operations; you cannot use the application to calculate dates.
- The calculator doesn't have a help function; this is a negative aspect of the tool because it won't help you in any way. · Formatting the results isn't possible and the application won't allow you to save the results. · The calculations are stored in a database. This is a negative aspect of the tool because this makes the application a bit complicated to use. · The application doesn't offer backup functions. · The database is only local. · The application doesn't support any other languages than English. · The font size in the application is a little bit small. · The application has no manuals or tutorials. · The application lacks advanced functions. · The application lacks a backup option.

Calculator works with numbers and matrices. You can do calculations up to 40 operations per minute. You can convert numbers and matrices from the unit system to another one. You can find the reciprocal of a number, number's derivative, the integral from x_0 to x_1 and many more functions. It has built-in functions for pi, e, ln, sin, cos, tan, asin and acos. It has a great Wizard which is very helpfull and some predefined namespaces for some mathematical functions that are very helpful for beginners. It can open a file from a file manager, save a file with a file manager or to a ZIP or a RAR archive. You can add a filter to the calculator. You can change a number of elements of the calculator. It has a simple language (11 tokens, which are NUMBER(`n`), CONST(x), FUNCTION (f), TYPE (type), INIT (x₀, y₀, x₁, y₁), NAME (name), FUNCTION f(x), ENTRY (x1, y1), LOAD (filename), DESC (label), COLOR (label, rgb), PICTURE (label, file)) that you can use in programs. It can work with many different graphical environments. The advanced evaluation of non-numerical expressions (infix expressions, sine, cosine, etc.) is very fast. The color number is a 8-bit number, therefore you can choose many more colors. Software
